Project Summary

Mt. Zion Baptist Church is a pivotal force in the High Point community. Dr. Rev. Frank Thomas had a vision for the High Point community beyond the already amazing work being done with the Community Writing Center. Through genuine relationships and a diligent and homegrown network, Change Often was able to commit to helping Dr. Rev. Frank Thomas bring his vision to fruition.

Since Mega Mission Ministries (M3) was envisioned, Change Often provided expert-level collaboration equipping Dr. Thomas's vision with the necessary action to execute. Change Often facilitated M3's first Board Retreat, creating the space for the development of the organization's mission, vision, values, goals, programs and services, organizational structure, and governing documents. With the support and counsel of Change Often, M3 was able to hire, orient, and manage our first staff member, the Program Director, within the first two months of incorporation.

Mega Mission Ministries, Inc. Transforming Ideas into Action, the story of a nonprofit's creation.

Have you ever noticed...

Visionaries do it all. Between his commitment to Mt. Zion Baptist Church and the Community Writing Center's poetry initiatives, adult programming, high school services, elderly workshops, and community engagement, Dr. Thomas knew he needed help laying the foundation for these critical programs to thrive.

He had a vision for these services to impact the lives of those in High Point, but he needed Change Often to help develop capacity for this work to be sustained and grow.

So we decided to...

assist Dr. Thomas with the formal creation of Mega Missions Ministries. By creating organizational bylaws, filing articles of incorporation, and facilitating a board retreat to orient new members, the foundation was laid for the work to continue.

Over nine months of collaboration, Change Often created an array of documents and filed them as legally binding protocols. After three months of waiting, the IRS recognized Mega Mission Ministries as a formally incorporated nonprofit entity.

""I take pride in being able to guide an impact partner through nonprofit development and giving them the tools they need to create and manage a sustainable nonprofit in my hometown."

Outcomes:

Board retreat.

The newly created board was able to contribute to the path that M3 would take by discussing the mission and vision statements, which created buy-in of the group. By coordinating and facilitating this space, a group of leaders were called to set their sights on M3's mission, vision, values, and goals - while providing insight to inform other items, such as organizational structure, and bylaws. When asked what made the board retreat successful, Jakki Davis answered that the retreat was "well planned, organized, and professional"

Sustainable Impact.

Change Often fostered increased comfortability for developing and managing Mega Mission Ministries as a sustainable nonprofit organization. We did this by providing resources for building first-year goals, structure on the path to an effective nonprofit, board member materials, and other documents to ensure that M3 could continue their important mission after the project ended.

Hiring of a Program Director.

After two months of entity formation, Change Often was able to work with Dr. Thomas to hire a program director, which was a major success for the organization and allowed them to continue growing.

Following up after the project had left Change Often's hands, Program Director Douglas McCollum reported that now there are now 22 students consistently being served by the Community Writing Center. He stated that one parent expressed "deep gratitude" of the program as their child received all 5's on their EOG's.
